Lions Prepare For Pancake Day

The Mokena Lions club is getting the community griddle greased and tempered and ready for use next week-end when the group will stage its annual Pancake Day.

The affair will be held in the VFW hall on Wolf road this year instead of under canvass. With the serving being held indoors it will not make much difference what the weather may be.

Serving will begin at 6 a.m. and continue until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the Lions club will do most of the work but Aunt Jemima—in person—will supervise the affair and is expected to flip a few of the cakes herself.

Half of the proceeds from Pancake Day will be given for the use of retarded children. The remainder will be applied to other worthwhile enterprises sponsored by the Lions.

Butter and syrup will be served with the cakes and sausage and bacon will be available also. Fred Lehmann is in charge of the affair.

Mokena Grade School Chorus Pleases Audience at Annual Concert

The Mokena grade school choir presented its third annual choir concert, Friday evening to a small but appreciative audience of parents and friends.

The choir composed of 30 sixth, seventh and eighth graders, presented a repertoire of 18 selections. The first group of songs, which were effectively presented under colored lights, included "In the Still of the Night", "Blue Moon", "Dream", "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes", and "Me and My Shadow."

After a brief pause, the choir returned to the stage to sing songs of a relaxing style. These included "Tumbling Tumbleweeds", "Set Down Servant", "Gossip Is Fun", "Be Kind to Your Parents" and several selections from their spring operetta.

The choir concluded the program by singing songs of a more serious nature: "These Things Shall Be", "I Sing as I Arise", "Show Me My Task", "The Halls of Ivy", "Through the Years" and "Beautiful Saviour."

One of the highlights of the evening occurred when each of the accompanists exchanged places with the director. Sue Ann Shoop led the choir in "You'll Never Walk Alone." Kay Swinford directed "Cool Water", and Gayle Harling led "The Halls of Ivy." On behalf of the choir, these girls presented Glen Miers, the director, with a gift in appreciation of his work over the past year.

In greeting the audience, Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, principal, pointed out that the choir members had been attending rehearsals every morning at 8:15 and every noon since Easter.

It was a disappointment to those present to have so few people present to hear an excellent program presented by the school children.

Salvation Army Sets June 14 as "Doughnut Day"

Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox will join more than 150 suburban communities and Chicago in observing Salvation Army "Doughnut Day" on Friday, June 14.

Official permission to hold the tag day in those communities has been received at the "Doughnut Day" headquarters, reports Mrs. Howard A. Olson Elmwood Park, suburban chairman of the drive.

On "Doughnut Day" community residents serving as volunteer taggers will sell the familiar doughnut-shaped tags which have become famous as symbols of The Salvation Army's help for persons in need.

In all communities outside of Cook county, 20 per cent of the funds raised in the local drive will remain there to meet disasters or emergencies in the community, and to finance unduplicated programs of health care or other service. The local service unit, comprised of representative citizens acting on behalf of The Salvation Army, decides how the funds will be used to assist individuals or families in need.

A brick light enough to float in water has been developed by Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology. Lower freight costs thus made possible may bring brick construction into competition with frame buildings.

June 9, to stage a 12-act dog show.

The various standing committees of the park board are all at work getting ready for the coming season.

Community park was a popular spot last summer and those in charge are hopeful that the attendance this year will be even larger.

Saturday, May 24, is Armed Forces Day.

This is the day on which the various branches of the U. S. services hold parades, receptions and exhibits of their weapons and other equipment in order to give the public first hand information as to what is being done for the defense of the nation.

The 13th AAA Missile Bn., whose headquarters and Bravo

Lt. Col. Ross batteries are at the NIKE installation at Orland Park is a part of the first line of defense against possible enemy air attack.

It's missiles, once launched are guided to their targets by remote control.

On Saturday and Sunday of this week the battalion will hold open house from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to which all persons in the area are invited.

There will be tours of the buildings that house the personnel and offices and also of the launching sites.

Since much of the NIKE set-up is necessarily hush-hush for security reasons, the public will not be shown everything and the secret parts will be screened off.

However, the public will be shown some of the launchers in position to fire. The launchers are vertical when the missiles are released. From there on remote control does the job.

There are several NIKE installations in Chicagoland as this is considered a likely area for enemy attack.

No missiles are released nor will there be unless there is an attack, it was explained. The missiles are not toys but are intended for serious business.

There are areas where they are launched and the crews given actual training that equips them for the task at hand—the defense of the Chicago area and other vital areas in the nation.

Lt. Col. Fred Ross, commanding officer of the 13th Bn., and his staff will be on hand to greet the week-end visitors.

Special invitations have been extended to village officials throughout the area.

The Cincinnati meeting, one of six scheduled throughout the nation in the next few weeks, will help kickoff the 1958 congressional campaigns, Mr. Alcorn said. The meetings will be used to discuss national and local political issues, strengthen state Republican organizations, and sound out grass roots sentiment.

The findings will then be studied as the President studied by the Republican national, senatorial and congressional committees as well as the President, and used to determine campaign strategy for 1958, Mr. Alcorn added.

States to be represented at Cincinnati are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Wis. and W. Virginia.

The company will employ 115 persons there when the improvements are completed. These same improvements will add to the assessed valuation of the township which means that more money will be available to the schools New Lenox grade school and Lincoln-Way high school—a welcome situation indeed. With Mr. Chandler, beginning at the left, are Attorney A. H. Krusemark, president of the Lincoln-Way board; A. Hunter Chapman, high school superintendent, and at the far right is John Oster, superintendent of the New Lenox public schools. (Marvin Smith Photo)

Seeks to Refute "Old Wives Tales" Concerning Causes of Human Ills

The gullibility of the public in matters of superstitions, particularly about health, is proved by the 'old wives tales' that are still handed down by tradition, even tho the present generation is better educated and better informed, the educational committee of the Illinois State Medical Society observes in "Health Talk."

The advent of a new baby into a family is the basis for many such superstitions. The appearance of a "birthmark" on the child is erroneously charged to the parents, rather than to a faulty development. Even tho very few persons have bowlegs today, there are those who still attribute this characteristic to the fact that the child walked too soon, instead of realizing that medical science has overcome rickets and other conditions which caused bowlegs. Teething is said to be a cause of infection. This is wrong. Teething will cause fretfulness and crossness, but infection is caused by bacteria or a virus.

On Cinders

According to some persons the best way to remove a cinder from the eye is to rub the other eye; think that blowing the nose on the side concerned will help. If a foreign object lodges in the eye, it must be removed manually and very often with an instrument; however, in many instances the tearing (water in the form of tears) of the eye, produced by the irritation, will eject the cinder or the foreign object.

One popular fallacy is that grinding of the teeth while sleeping indicates the presence of worms. Actually this is a nervous habit associated with restlessness.

The sure and quick stopping of nosebleeds has produced many popular methods and procedures which are false. For example, some believe that pressing the upper lip, or placing ice on the neck will produce the desired effect. Most nosebleeds will stop by themselves, but the presence of one indicates that something is wrong and should be investigated by a physician.

Many people believe that sleeping on the left side is damaging to the heart. Since the ribs, muscles and fibrous tissues of the chest protect the heart, it is all right to sleep in any position you find pleasant.

Seeds and Appendicitis

And then there are the people who believe that certain machines and gadgets with various vibrations and currents will cure anything from ingrown toe-nails to cancer and rheumatism. The flickering lights in varying colors are the yardstick for the degree of improvement. This misconception is a tragic one for the victims, for it lets disease develop into advanced stages and benefits no one but the promoter of the scheme.

These are a few of the silly superstitions about health. Unfortunately there are many more, such as seeds causing appendicitis, the wearing of metal rings to cure goiter and rheumatism and the following of certain food fads to live a long life, free of disease.

Disease is not a trifling matter and good health is one of the most prized possessions of every human being. Everyone should have a physical examination regularly to see that the body machine is functioning normally and if something is wrong to have it corrected. Use common sense and discard false notions and superstitions. The myths of the "old wives tales" and witchcraft are exploded in sound medical and scientific reasoning and fact.

Getting Phone? Hurry! Service Charge Going Up

(CNS) Here's a "save money" item for those having their first telephone installed and for those moving into a place where the phone needs connecting. Have it done now and save up to $2.

The Illinois commerce commission has approved higher rates for installing, connecting and moving business and residential telephones. In Illinois Bell Telephone system, effective May 21.

The charge for connecting a telephone already installed will go up from $2 to $4.

Under the new rates, a service visit to install a home phone in Chicago will cost $5.50—up $1. The rate for businesses will increase from the present $7 to $10.

In the suburbs, the same home phone charge will be $5—up $2 in Bartlett, Deerfield, Glenview, Lansing, Lemont, Northbrook, Oak Lawn, Orland Park, Palatine, Palos Park, Tinley Park Wheeling and Willow Springs—and $1 higher elsewhere. This charge for a suburban business phone will be $9 or $3 more.

For home users, this initial charge also covers requests to move any number of telephones to new locations in the house, installing any number of extension phones, and exchanging any model phone for another in the company's so-called "regular" line.

The last adjustment in these rates was in 1950 and the new increase was made necessary by "tremendously" rising costs, a phone company spokesman said.

There is no change in phone call rates or in the policy of no charge for repairing and maintaining service.

Clad Utensils

The trend in modern cooking utensils is toward a clad product having a stainless surface in contact with the food being cooked and a heat conducting surface in contact with the heat. Generally, a nickel-containing stainless steel is used on the inside of the utensils and copper or other metal having good heat conductivity on the outside.

DEFEND YOUR POCKETBOOK

If you want to know how your school boards are spending your money we would suggest that you write your state representatives at Springfield and urge them to vote 'NO' on House Bill 613.

This measure would amend the present school publication law which calls for an account of all school expenditures in detail and restore the old abbreviated type of report published prior to 1955.

The old, short-form type of report keeps the taxpayer in the dark as to how his money is being spent. The move to keep the public in the dark is part and parcel of "the public be damned" attitude that is finding too many exponents among public officials.

The authors of H. B. 613 are State Representatives Anthony Scariano, of Park Forest, and Jack E. Walger, of Lansing. Scariano is a Democrat, Walker, a Republican. Both are from the first district.

Whether they are influenced by what has been called a powerful educational lobby or they think their bill is an economy move, has not been determined.

If they claim to be acting in the name of economy then they have something to learn.

A survey conducted by the Illinois Press Association shows that under the present law which calls for detailed and revealing reports of expenditures by school boards does not impose a heavy cost upon a district.

The average publication cost per million dollars of school funds spent, the survey shows, is $225.

That is pretty cheap insurance for the public to pay to learn if a school board is having fun and games with tax money.

When expenditures are set forth in detail—how much money was paid to this person or firm and who that person or firm is and for what purpose was it spent—the public can make up its mind as to whether the board is using discretion and judgment in its expenditures.

Under the old law the public was kept in ignorance of how its school taxes were being spent, and apparently those who are working for passage of House Bill 613 liked it that way.

THE DRIVER LOST CONTROL—is the reason given for many automobile accidents and according to the report of state police that is what happened here. The driver, James Wilson, 23, Lincoln Estates, Frankfort township, was traveling east on U. S. 30 Tuesday night and as he neared the Harlem avenue intersection his car went off the pavement and rolled over several times. Wilson was taken to St. James hospital, Chicago Heights. Wilson has a possible fracture of his left arm and shoulder; back injuries and a scalp wound that required stitches. He was alone at the time and no other vehicle was involved. (Marvin Smith Photo)

Bremen Beats Blue Island 4-3 In District Baseball Tourney

Bremen and Thornton Fractional triumphed to reach yesterday's finals in the Blue Island district high school baseball tournament.

Bremen defeated Blue Island Tuesday 4-3, with pitcher Jerry Miller giving up three hits and striking out 10.

Thornton by Dale Hartwig in the fifth inning advanced Bremen's chances for victory.

Bremen collected three runs in the first inning. A ball hit down the third base line by Blue Island, with men on second and third, almost dimmed their hopes of victory, as it barely went foul.

Fractional defeated Morgan Park Military academy 12-2.

In the Lemont district finals, Lincoln-Way High school was defeated by Lemont 8-7 in a game which went 15 innings and lasted five hours.

Winner of the Bremen-Fractional game will advance to the regional finals at Reavis, Oak Lawn.

Nickel Silver Track

Made of nickel silver, an alloy of nickel, copper and zinc, the new track is easy to solder and bend, and requires less cleaning than brass or steel.

Nurses Boost Pay Schedule in Three Counties

Fees for private duty nurses in Cook, DuPage and Lake counties will be $18 per eight hour day effective June 1, 1957, it was announced by Miss Adelaide M. Fritz, R. N., president of the First District, Illinois Nurses Association.

Miss Fritz said, "The First District's board of directors approved the increase—the first since 1953—only after investigation indicated it was necessary both from the standpoint of the nurses and the public. Private duty must be financially attractive or there will not be enough nurses in this field to meet the critical service demands."

The Nurses Professional Registry of First District, I.N.A., principal source of private duty nurses in the counties affected, was able to fill only 16,461 of more than 36,000 calls for service received during 1956.

The number of private duty nurses registered with the Nurses Professional Registry has decreased sharply in the past ten years and the interest of young nurses in the field is steadily declining. In 1946, there were 277 new enrollments with the registry; in 1956, only 40.

Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, is the first institution in the country to offer a degree-granting course in food engineering.

Mokena Launches Plans for 1957 Baseball Season

The Mokena Baseball Association has elected officers for the coming year and tryouts and practice for the various teams are scheduled for this Saturday at Community park, beginning at 1 o'clock.

The tryouts, naturally, will depend upon weather conditions. There have been so many rains this spring that high school teams have found it difficult to get in the games scheduled. As a matter of fact most schedules have been abandoned.

The Babe Ruth and Small Fry leagues will not begin play until next month. The same will be true of the Small Fry farm clubs.

The farm teams will be made up of boys eight and nine years old. The age limits for the Small Fry will be 10 to 12 while the Babe Ruth team will be made up of youngsters 13 to 15.

Bob Hohenstein and Loren Nieman will be in charge of the farm clubs and Small Fry. Ernest Tipton will manage the Babe Ruth team.

The next meeting of the association will be held June 5 at the Mokena grade school on Carpenter street.

National Honor Society

Five junior and senior students were the center of attention at Carl Sandburg high school Tuesday morning, May 7 as they were honored by being inducted into membership in the National Honor Society. Membership in this national organization represents the highest honor that can come to a student in high school since his election is based upon four basic qualities of true education—scholarship, character, leadership and service. Congratulations to Shirley Meyer, Lynne Towner, John Blew, Marilyn Gee and Judy Nelson for receiving this honor.

The impressive induction ceremony was led by Frank Liston, the president of the Orland Palos chapter of the National Honor Society. Other members who took part in the ceremony were: Kay Ireland, Character; Craig Reuter, Leadership; J. O. Aulwurm, Service; Jack Kennelly, Scholarship; John Hodges, pledge to the flag; Marsha Vleck, vocalist. Mr. Bentz, guidance director, presented the new members with pins and membership cards.

Sandburg's excellent band, under the direction of Milton Potter, opened the ceremonies with the Star Spangled Banner and played several selections at the close of the assembly.

ART EDUCATION
by Martin Suchor, Art teacher
Art is a special subject.
Art education is for gifted children.

Art education consists of painting and drawing.
The object of the art program is to make a professional artist of each student.

The preceding statements are only a sample of the misconceptions people have about art education, and the field of art in general. We may also add that "Art is for those who can afford it," this too is as erroneous as saying that all children who do not attend college do not require physical education or English in high school.

When art education is mentioned many questions arise. What is art? Why should it be taught? Why should my son or daughter take art when there are other courses in the curriculum that will help more in later life. These are a few of the questions which are asked and I will try to answer with a brief statement of the philosophy or objectives of art education.

Art education should allow each child to grow as an individual. He should be granted freedom of art expression and imagination to develop not as an artist but as a person with character, integrity, appreciation and a fund of information. Skills and techniques should be stressed as means of expressions. Art expression allows the fullest development of the individual by integrating his imaginative, creative, intellectual, emotional and social capacities. It is well to remember that education is a life long process by which the individual grows or develops as a result of all his experiences. Thru art we can guide the individual to a better understanding of the world in which he lives.

To do this the student is encouraged to explore and experiment with many different materials and media to sharpen his perception of beauty and to realize that art has its roots in everyday experience.

The association of American Railroads research center is located on the Illinois Institute of Technology campus in Chicago.

Nickel in Atomic Energy
From the beginning of the atomic energy program, nickel and nickel-containing alloys, because of their resistance to corrosion, have had an established role in every phase of nuclear development.

Poison Blankets Curb Undercover "Jap" Beetles

Keep your landscaping's ornery undercover agents, Jap beetles, under cover this season. This means grub-proofing, or putting a poison blanket over your lawn areas, and spraying foliage with an invisible DDT film for two-way control.

In May, beetle grubs still are feeding on grass roots. With the first really warm days soon, they will begin to emerge warns J. J. Slocum, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. That's why grub-proofing with wettable DDT powder is so effective now in thinning the beetle population. Foliar spraying with emulsifiable DDT catches those that survive or fly in from neighboring properties.

DDT wettable powder is advised for lawn application because it is easily worked into the soil for long-lasting results, about five years, and the sole insecticide that does not destroy helpful earthworms. Earthworms aerate the soil and revitalize it by taking organic materials into the ground.

Poison powders of any kind are not recommended for foliar sprays, since beetles on the wing shy off visibly tainted greenery. Their built-in radar does not warn them off DDT coatings that are invisible.

Grub-proofing is best accomplished in a drizzle. If you can't wait for this favorable weather, next best thing is to set off sprinklers to wash the poison into the soil. Left unmolested, famished Jap beetle adults will ravage any foliage in their path, but seemingly prefer the linden and ginkgo as tidbits.

If you've never seen what happens to a lovely home after a money-mad thief has been at work, you perhaps can't imagine your need for Personal Theft insurance.

But for a moment, "visit this scene. The French doors have been pried open, splitting the wood and breaking a pane of glass, inside, complete disorder!

Bill Mulder

During the night, while the owner was gone a thief had called. All the overstuffed chairs were up-ended, mattresses slit open, meat packages in the deep freeze unwrapped. Even the lid of the water heater had been pried off and the insulation removed one handful at a time. All linens and other contents of drawers and closets were hurriedly thrown to the floor.

The loss: A few dollars in a church envelope, a shotgun, and a wristwatch. But also, "damages to premises" including the French doors, water heater and broken phonograph records.

Fortunately, the owner had a Personal Theft policy and the full loss was covered.

Theft insurance is available as a separate policy, or as an endorsement to one of our fire insurance policies.

Let us explain the advantage of this coverage. You'll be amazed at the low cost.

Riverview Opens For Season With 3 New Features

Three spectacular new attractions—the Show Boat, Kiddy City and the Snake Show, will be much in the limelight when Riverview Park, the world's largest outdoor amusement center, opens its 54th season here, at Western and Belmont avenues, Wednesday, May 15, 1957.

Riverview, which annually entertains some 2 million funseekers, will operate on a new schedule this year. The park will not be open on Mondays, except when holidays fall on Monday.

Among the new attractions, the Show Boat ride is expected to prove a great popular favorite. The miniature river boats, driven by a stern paddle wheel and powered by a 25 h. p. marine engine, will ply their way thru the Riverview lagoon and around a newly created channel which circles a landscaped, man-made island.

Kiddy City, which will offer a whole new group of small children's rides in addition to Riverview's well-established Kiddyland, will feature small cars, tanks, locomotives and the like.

The new Snake House will offer a large collection of live reptiles from many lands for observation by the Riverview fans.

All of Riverview's famous 40 other major rides and attractions have been completely refurbished for the season.

Lewis College Stages Musical Comedy Tonight

The Lewis Drama club will present 'the new look' on the stage of the Farragut School Auditorium in Joliet tonight and tomorrow night with Curtain time at 8:30 P.M.

'The new look' will not be the name of the presentation, rather, it refers to the fact that the musical comedy to be shown, 'The Forcaster', was written this past winter by Thomas E. Burke and this will be its first presentation to the public. The dialogue, music, and lyrics were written entirely by Burke who is a junior at Lewis and a native of Joliet. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Niles Burke of 1157 Glenwood ave., Joliet. He is a graduate of Joliet township high school. Before entering Lewis college last September he served in the army and attended Catholic university at Washington, D. C.

While at Catholic university he became acquainted with Robert E. Sullivan, who was a student in the graduate school. Their common interest in drama was a basis for their becoming well acquainted. Both men left school to join the service. When Sullivan received his discharge he joined the faculty of Lewis college in the speech and literature department. THE FORCASTER brings the two men together again Burke as the author, and Sullivan as the director.

The plot has a college campus background. The mechanical weather forecasting apparatus that was invented by one of the professors is being competed for by the U. S. Air Force intelligence and a Russian spy, despite the professor's reluctance to sell the gadget. Romantic interest stems from the Lieutenant meeting the professor's daughter. The plot unfolds at the very end of the last scene.

Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Manning underwent a tonsillectomy Friday in Hazel Crest hospital. Mr. and Mrs. William Bingham's son Michael, also had his tonsils removed at Hazel Crest Friday. Both children are recuperating very well.

Mrs. Ann Gallina, Mrs. Ann Wagner, Miss Joanne Kuhn, Mrs. Kay Couch and Mrs. Ruth Bacon underwent surgery recently at the Hazel Crest hospital. All are progressing quite satisfactorily.

RECEIVES TOP SCIENCE HONORS—Allen Mager, of Frankfort, a senior at Lincoln-Way high school, is the winner of one of the 40 Awards given by the Illinois Junior Academy of Science at Normal university May 3. There were more than 1,200 exhibitors out of an original field of 7,000. His project dealt with vitamins and synthesis.

Chicago Girl Reigns as Queen of Transportation

A pretty Chicago railroad employee reigned as Miss Transportation during National Transportation week, which ends Saturday, May 18.

She is Barbara Gagel, 26 a clerical worker in the regional offices of the Pennsylvania railroad at Chicago.

Miss Transportation was selected from Chicago-area transportation employees, to give an added authentic touch to Chicago's tribute to one of its most thriving industries. Chicago is the transportation center of the world, and National Transportation Week gives it the opportunity to take special notice of that distinction.

Miss Transportation will make appearances at a number of the week's special events. She will be guest of honor at a luncheon tomorrow sponsored by the Traffic Club of Chicago and the National Defense Transportation Association at the Sherman hotel.

Also, Miss Transportation will lead the transportation section of the Armed Forces Day Parade, May 18.

Chicago born, Miss Gagel was graduated from Sacred Heart Academy, Lisle, Ill.

A wide assortment of games were played, all made by the cub scouts and the den mothers, including duck shooting, penny pitching, disc throwing etc. Prizes were awarded to Mr. Elmer Triphan and Mrs. William Krueger for being the most skillful in playing the games.

The Pack welcomed four new boys: Kenneth Kane, Kenneth Clark, James Burke, and Mark Wichterman, who became Bobcats. Wolf badges were awarded to Allan Sorensen and Michael Boer, and Brian Smothers was awarded a Bear badge. A Lion Badge was awarded to William (Speedy) Wheeler.

Gold Arrows were awarded to David Schneider, Steven Tatum, Richard Wilkinson and Thomas Bockstahler, and Thomas Bettenhausen received his Silver Arrow. John Knutson received his Webelos badge and leaves the Cub Scouts to enter Boy Scouts. James Wichterman was awarded his Webelos badge and also met all his Tenderfoot requirements as he goes into the Boy Scouts.

Cub Pack 255 wishes to express its appreciation to all those who helped to make the Carnival Evening such a success.

A chimney fire occurred at the Stanley E. Leland home, 16712 Otto ave., Friday night about 10 p.m. The Tinley Park fire department was called and soon had the situation under control.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Webster were guests of the Charles Manhart's in Mokena Sunday.

Traveling With Children Needs Bit of Planning

Planning can do much to make traveling with children a joy rather than an ordeal, and leave everyone with pleasant memories of the trip.

The Chicago Motor Club suggests that you follow a simple program to keep the youngsters contented and make your own trip more enjoyable.

Children should be told in advance where they are going. They are interested and will derive much more from a trip if they know your plans.

If, for example, the children have saved money for their vacation from their allowance or odd jobs, the trip will have a more significant meaning and will give them an added incentive to enjoy it.

Children should be dressed in cool, easily-washed clothing. Shorts, jeans, T-shirts or wrinkle resistant blouses are ideal.

Maintain Feeding Schedule
For freedom from carsickness, a travel feeding schedule should do the trick, such as fairly light breakfast and luncheon, with the main meal reserved for the evening, when there is no more immediate traveling to be done. And altho youngsters may not like it, candies and pastries should be avoided when on the road. As a substitute, try fresh and dried fruit, crisp carrots and celery sticks.

Children's thirst can be slaked by carrying a thermos filled with water or fruit juice.

But the baby's formula should never be carried in a thermos jug as it cannot be sterilized and is an ideal place for bacteria to thrive.

To help the trip go smoothly, three gadgets have been devised to keep the child busy and happy. They are a mystery box, a wiggle platform, and a shoe bag filing cabinet of sorts.

Toys Help
The mystery box is actually a hat box or a fruitcake tin or even a shoebox attractively decorated and, before the trip, kept tightly shut and out of sight. Before starting on the trip, wrap some toys—one gift for each day's driving—and pack them in the mystery box. Then, when the child begins to show signs of restlessness or boredom, pull out the mystery box and let 'em have fun digging.

However, be careful in your choice of toy. Try harmless items, such as toy cars, planes, boats, drawing books and dolls; but avoid things that might distract the driver or hurt the child in a moving car.

If your child gets fretful without a daily nap, a good substitute for mother's weary shoulder is a wiggle platform—so named because it's a good place for wiggling.

It can be made with several pieces of luggage, firmly stacked on the floor, level with the seat. Over this, place a crib or air mattress, and if the youngster is used to a pillow, use one.

The shoe bag provides a functional addition to your trip. A plastic shoe bag can be hung over the back of the front seat with two bicycle clamps or metal headbands. Several of the pockets of this bag can handle all the necessities for keeping the child and the car clean.

Careful planning can make the trip enjoyable for both children and adults and leave everyone with pleasant vacation memories.

A commercially available atomic-powered battery no bigger than a cough drop is predicted within three years. The battery, producing about 20 microwatts of electricity, could be used in transistorized radios, hearing aids, and even wristwatches.

Here's Chance To Have Camera Earn Its Way

Entries have begun to flow in from all parts of Illinois and neighboring states in Governor William G. Stratton's third annual State Park Photo Contest.

With $500 in cash prizes, the contest offers flexibility for the amateur photographer. Special photographic equipment is not necessary to be a winner. It presents opportunity for camera enthusiasts to make their spring and summer family outings at Illinois parks and memorials really pay for themselves.

Governor Stratton told friends gathered in his Capitol office that it was his sincere hope that this contest would not only be materially rewarding but would also offer an adventure in the natural wonders of our state.

Prizes will include free week end vacations for two persons at hotels Drake and LaSalle in Chicago and the Leland in Springfield, besides $500 in cash awards to be presented at the Illinois State Fair on Aug. 13 by Governor Stratton.

Entry blanks are available at any of the Illinois state parks and memorials and the Illinois Building in Chicago. They also may be obtained by writing to the Division of Department Reports, Room 406, State House, Springfield.

Entries will be judged by members of the Illinois Press Photographer's Association.

No! No! Ladies One Doesn't Peel Mushrooms

Whether you get mushrooms from a field or a grocery store, you'll want to cook them to get the best flavor. A University of Illinois foods specialist, Geraldine Acker, says that sauteing is one of the best ways.

To prepare in this way, wash each mushroom carefully and snip off the end of the stem. Don't peel because peeling takes away much of the delicate flavor.

Then brown the cleaned caps and chopped stems in butter, using 2 tablespoons butter to ½ pound mushrooms. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of paprika. Eat them plain or combine with other foods.

Steamed mushrooms add a different flavor twist to many dishes. To cook, place one-half pound of cleaned mushrooms in a pan with one-fourth cup of water, one tablespoon of lemon juice, one tablespoon of butter and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Cover. After steam rises, cook three minutes. Cool and store covered in refrigerator.

Steamed mushrooms are excellent with meat, rice or vegetable croquettes, meat pies, casserole or scalloped foods, fish meat or potato patties and creamed dishes, to name a few. One pound of fresh whole mushrooms makes about two cups when cooked.

Auto License Plates Peeling? Here's How to Get New Ones

Are your auto license plates peeling?

Do you see silver when you should see red, or, if you have a temper with a low boiling point, do you see red because you see silver?

Whatever your reaction, the remedy is at hand.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier whose office dispenses license plates to automobile and truck owners says that all anyone has to do if his plates are peeling is to write his office at Springfield - a post card will do—giving his name, address and license number and the plate will be replaced immediately, free of charge.

The peeled plate must be destroyed after the replacement has been received.

This replacement, by the way, will be made without charge to the state by Hemp and Co., of Macomb, Ill., which has been manufacturing license plates for Illinois since 1937.

J. L. Hemp, president of the company, told Carpentier that laboratory tests revealed that the peeling is caused by a combination of the cleaning fluid used to prepare the metal and the metal content itself.

Hemp added that this the first time the company has ever had peeling trouble. The peeling, strange to relate, is restricted to front plates in the even numbered series from 1,400,000 through 2,800,000 and occurs only on aluminum plates. The steel-based plates are not affected, Hemp said.

Business and Finance

Maurice P. Angland

As in all fields of human endeavor, the results of corporate activity range from the phlegmatic to the highly dynamic.

The success or failure of corporations is largely due to the ability or lack of ability on the part of its management. Complacency has no place in our modern, highly competitive and constantly changing business world.

A firm typifying aggressive and dynamic management is General American Transportation Corporation. Board chairman Sam Laud of General American is reputed to have said "We leave contentment to the cows." Interestingly, in each year since 1952 General American has increased its dividend over the previous year. The common stock is presently on a $3.20 annual basis or about four per cent return. Net income per share in 1956 was about $5.71. Excluding 1954 when an especial earnings gain was shown, the increase in per share earnings has been at the rate of 10 per cent per year.

General American belongs to that elite group of American companies which though not immune to the vagaries of general business conditions, always seem to do well when some firms are less happy with their lot.

General American started some years ago in the field of leasing specialized freight cars. At present the company owns and has under long term lease, about 62,500 specialized freight cars serving almost every segment of basic industry with the food industry bulking the largest. The company has repeatedly introduced new designs in this field of freight cars to give its business added momentum.

The company does not, as a policy, build these cars and then procure the leases. It first leases and then builds the cars. It also builds specialized freight cars for outright sale. The demand for lease and sale of such freight cars should be good for at least the next few years.

However, due to the cyclical demand for such freight cars, the management felt it should diversify.

Today this company is the nation's largest in the field of plastic molding and has special equipment not easily duplicated. It is an important producer of specialized equipment and machinery for the chemical, food, paper, distilling and other processing industries. It manufactures various types of pressure vessels pneumatic conveying devices, mixing devices etc.

The company maintains an active research development program. The company has developed a nickel-phosphorous plating process on which it has patents. This operation has developed a fair sized business for the company's own operations and a growing income from licensing agreements.

Another development is the design of a special freight car known as the Airlide Car. It found its earliest application in the flour industry, but is now being used in transportation of chemicals and plastics.

These developments may well be over shadowed by a revolutionary method for the manufacture of cement in which kilns will not be used and fuel costs lower. This is known as the "Pyzel Process." This process has been in substantial pilot plant operation for more than a year.

The management believes that successful acceptance of this method of cement manufacture will be comparable to the introduction of the catalytic cracking process to the petroleum industry.

FARM NEWS

assistant farm adviser

For Cook County
by
W. F.

Proper placement of fertilizer in the row for corn is very important. It can make the difference between a full stand, half a stand or no stand at all.

The high analysis fertilizers and high planting rates of today make obsolete the planting machinery used ten years ago.

The best place for starter fertilizer for corn is approximately 2 inches to the side and 2 inches below the seed. Fertilizer that comes in contact or is too near the germinating seed will prohibit or reduce germination, resulting in reduced yields.

Most planters have conversion kits which will place fertilizer 2 inches to the side and 2 inches below seed.

Proper mowing and fertilizing are probably the most important steps in encouraging growth of permanent lawn grasses and discouraging undesirable weeds.

The type of mower isn't important. Your mower should be sharp enough to cut grass cleanly without bruising and tearing.

Bluegrass lawns should be mowed to about 2 inches and never less than one and one-half inches. And whatever height you mow, frequent mowing is important to avoid cutting too much off at a time.

Fertilize your lawn in early Spring and Fall during its maximum growing period.

Alternate grazing of your pasture can increase pasture income 20%. Plots that can be grazed off in a week are about the right size.

Any plan that will keep your cows stuffed with high quality forage all summer long will insure the highest and most profitable milk production rate.

Pesticides play an important role in providing the nations food supply and protecting the public health. However, it is important to follow basic safety measures and precautions in using them. Always read the label before using these materials. Note warnings and cautions before opening the container.

Color can make your farm shop safer. A new color scheme adopted by the National Conference on Farm Safety identifies danger areas. Red identifies areas of danger and areas where fire protection equipment is kept. Orange designates dangerous parts of machines or equipment. Yellow is used to mark stumbling and tripping hazards. Green designates the location of safety and first aid equipment. Blue designates electrical controls and caution areas.

Two State Safety Field Days in 1957 will be held at DeKalb on July 23 and at Salem July 25, both sponsored by the Illinois Rural Safety Council.

Agronomy Day for 1957 at the University of Illinois will be June 27.

that's THE LAW

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE
ILLINOIS STATE
BAR ASSOCIATION

Avoid "Barracks Lawyer"

You don't have to be a lawyer in order to give an intelligent opinion on the legal subject. But because of the vast intricacies of the law, a simple set of facts often gives rise to difficult legal problems. In spite of this, there are many persons who persist in passing out legal advice on all problems, pounding the table, quoting rules, and loudly expounding opinions. Beware of these persons, because their free opinions are usually worth what they cost, and often can be the unintended cause of harm to those who rely on them.

Bad Advice From Wilbur

For example, George Jones owned a small drug store in Portersville, Ill. He agreed to sell the store to Harry White at a time when he still owed $1,000 to various creditors for items he bought for the store. George and Harry were in the back room one night discussing who would pay these debts. George suggested that they talk to a lawyer. Just then Wilbur Knowall came into the room, and heard the discussion. He told George to keep the debts, "to avoid complications". As to telling George's creditors of the sale, Wilbur said that was unnecessary because George was still liable to pay them. George and Harry decided to follow Wilbur's advice.

Harry Pays Twice

Several weeks later, after Harry had taken over the store, a representative of one of George's creditors came in and demanded that Harry pay the debt that George had incurred. Harry refused, but went to see a lawyer to make certain. Harry was surprised to learn that he had violated an Illinois statute in buying the store without giving notice of the sale to the creditors, that the sale was void as to them, and that he was liable for George's debts.

Wilbur Advises Again

Another victim of bad legal advice from a well intended friend was Paul Black, who was building an addition onto his home. He arranged with Bill Handy, a general contractor, to do the job. Bill let out subcontracts for the brick, cement, plumbing and electrical work. Paul had heard of "mechanic's liens" and was considering visiting a local lawyer about his question. Wilbur at once told Paul that he could save the lawyer's fee, because Wilbur knew all about liens. Wilbur told Paul to obtain from Handy a general waiver of liens. Wilbur said that this would be binding as against subcontractors. Paul followed Wilbur's advice, obtained the waiver, and paid Handy as work progressed.

An Expensive Advisor

What Wilbur did not know is that under Illinois law, Handy's waiver had to be recorded in the county recorder's office in order for it to be binding on subcontractors. When Handy failed to pay his subcontractors when the job was finished, they filed liens against Paul's property. Paul was certain that they had no right to hold him responsible until he contacted a lawyer who showed him the Illinois statute providing for his liability. Eventually, in order to discharge the liens, Paul had to duplicate some of the payments he had made to Handy. He paid a high price for Wilbur's FREE advice.

These are just common place examples of the trouble you can get into when toying with the law. Experienced lawyers often must spend many hours researching a problem before advising their clients as to the best course of action to follow.

It is therefore hazardous to rely on the legal advice of well-meaning friends. As in the case of Harry and Paul, that is often the beginning of many headaches.

Find Dead Sea Scrolls Enrich Christian Study

By Dr. E. H. PETERS

Wayne State University, Detroit
(Paulist Feature Service)

Ten years ago, two Arab boys in search of a stray goat, entered a cave on the western shore of the Dead Sea and found several old clay jars. The contents of these jars caused some people to trumpet the end of Christianity.

"The Dead Sea scrolls offer a strong challenge to the Christian faith." "They prove Christianity is nothing more than offshoot of a Jewish sect called the Essenes." These and other equally frightening statements are causing people to ask, "Just what is the story behind the Dead Sea scrolls?"

The large jars found in the cave contained scrolls which date back to the first century B. C. After all kinds of tests, scholars have verified the age of these manuscripts and removed all possibility of a hoax.

The scrolls make up a whole library including parts of nearly every book of the Old Testament. Among them is a complete copy of the Book of Isaiah. This document is about 1000 years older than any Hebrew copy of a complete book of the Bible which we had until now.

The books were the property of a Jewish religious party, active at the time of Christ, called the Essenes. One of the documents sets out the doctrine of this group. Several of their practices and teachings resemble those of the Christians. For this reason it was thought that the discovery offered a challenge to the Christian faith.

But where is the challenge?

The similarities between the Christian practices and those of the Essenes are to be expected since both arose out of the same background of the Old Testament. Christ Himself said that He came "not to destroy but to fulfill." The Christian faith is the flower of the Jewish religion.

Before the documents were carefully studied, many claimed that they denied the divinity of Christ and so destroyed Christianity. Especially was this seen in the writings of the Frenchman, DuPont - Sommer. But in a clarification in the Saturday Review of March 3, 1956, he says, "I believe that the Dead Sea scrolls do not deny the divinity of Jesus. In a general sense, viewed as a whole, the originality of the Christian Church seems to me to remain unchallenged."

We should be grateful to archeology for this discovery near the Dead Sea. Far from challenging Christianity, the scrolls serve to fill in our knowledge of the background and unique character of the revelation Christ brought to the world. By contrast with them, the incomparably richer message which is Christ's is more readily appreciated.

Distribution of the total free world nickel supply in 1956 approximated that of the previous year, with about 65 per cent going to the United States and 35 per cent to Canada, the United Kingdom and other countries of the free world.

Bigamy and Horse Stealing Once Were on Equal Terms in Penalties

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
 In 1803, we recently discovered, bigamy was made punishable by death in Illinois. It became so when Indiana Territory of which Illinois was then a part, adopted a Virginia law. It was among others selected for government of the new territories created out of the old Northwest.

The penalty prescribed now appears somewhat severe. Perhaps the territorial authorities also thought so and changed it in 1807. After that bigamy was punishable by not less than 100 nor more than 300 stripes on the bare back, plus not less than $100 nor more than $500 fine, and not less than six months nor more than one year in 'gaol'. In addition, convicted parties were declared infamous and could not offer testimony in court.

Horse thieves also met stern measures. In 1805, the thief was required to pay the owner in full for the stolen horse and to receive not less than 50 nor more than 200 lashes, 'well laid on'. This milder punishment was reserved only for first offenders. Those convicted of a second offense were sentenced to death. Anyone who knowingly received a stolen horse was held equally guilty and punished accordingly.

The theft of a 'hog, pig or shoat' was not so serious as that of a horse, however. The fine in this case was not less than $50 nor more than $200 and not over 39 stripes. Hogs and cattle allowed to range in the woods had their ears notched and cropped or were branded. If such stock was killed in the woods, heads of hogs with ears attached were to be shown to a magistrate or two reliable freeholders as evidence. The entire hides of cattle with ears attached were likewise required to be exhibited so marks and brands could be checked.

Those adjudged guilty of treason "shall suffer the pains of death." Murderers received the same penalty. There were no degrees of murder. The person charged either was found guilty and sentenced to death or not guilty and went free.

In addition to other penalties, those found guilty of manslaughter had a capital M burned into the palm of their left hand with a hot iron. For arson the offender received 39 stripes, was placed in the pillory for not more than two hours and in 'gaol' for three years or less. If death resulted from the arson, it was considered murder and death penalty was exacted.

In 1807 rape was punishable by death. For some "statutory crimes" the penalty was not less than 50 nor more than five years in jail. Other unusual punishments were sometimes meted out. In one case cited the offending man was mounted facing backward on a horse and the woman concerned was forced to lead the horse from the jail to the church and back to jail. This practice had long been common in Britain and Europe.

Frowned on Mayhem
 Fighting among men attracted little attention. If, however, an eye was put out or pulled out; if the tongue was cut or disabled, or if an ear, nose, finger or part of the body was bitten, added penalty could be expected. The offender could be sent to jail for not less than one nor more than six months and could be fined not less than $50 nor more than $1,000. One eye gouger was sued for damages and required to pay the injured one $500, but these same two men became firm friends in later years. Ordinary assault and battery could be fined "not over $100."

There were other laws that appear somewhat strange to us. One adopted in 1788 spoke out strongly against the use of improper profane language, but did not assess a penalty. Another one definitely condemned working or engaging in amusements "except work of necessity and charity" on Sunday, but forgot to set a penalty. These omissions were remedied in 1799 when a penalty of not over $2 for each "curse, damn or oath uttered" was added. Penalties of $2 for each offense were added for hunting, shooting, revelling, fighting or quarreling on the Sabbath.

For drunkenness the offender could be sent to the county jail for not more than 48 hours. If the inebriate was more than five miles from the county jail he could be placed in charge of a local constable for the prescribed time. Guilt of drunkenness could be established by admission of the offender, by observation of the magistrate or upon the testimony of one reliable witness.

Executions Were Social Events
 Some games were illegal, too. Cockfighting, cards, dice, billiards, bowls and 'matching bullets' were banned as gambling

Drought Takes Toll of Wildlife And Vegetation

By ROBERT MANN
Conservation Editor
Cook County Forest Preserve
 In 1956 Chicago received less rain and snow than in any year since records have been kept, 11 inches less than the normal 33. Yet scarcely anybody seemed aware of it or was particularly alarmed. In this respect modern Chicago is the most fortunate of the world's large cities. On her doorstep is Lake Michigan with an unfailing supply of good fresh water. New York City, on the other hand, has had to buy and protect huge watersheds, build reservoirs to collect the rainfall from them, and pipe their water into the city from these distant points. In New York such a drought as we have had is a critical time with restrictions or threats of restrictions on air conditioning, lawn sprinkling, car washing and bathing.

Chicago people have short memories. 1871 was a year of widespread drought. After days of hot drying winds, the Great Chicago Fire started on the evening of October 8 and roared through the wooden buildings of the downtown part of the city, killing 250 people and rendering 100,000 more homeless. On the same day, although it almost passed unnoticed, a tornado of fire swept through the little lumbering town of Peshtigo, Wisconsin taking 1152 lives. Dozens of other communities in Wisconsin and Michigan were damaged or destroyed by forest fires on that fateful Sunday. Holland, Michigan was in ashes and its Hope College in ruins, partly because its people thought it wrong to do any work, even fight fire, on the Sabbath. Since colonial times forest fires have killed more pioneers than the Indians, and have destroyed more trees than the lumberjacks.

A Serious Problem
 To all people everywhere drought is a serious matter. Dry spells of three to six weeks during the growing season often parch wide areas, even whole nations, and cut down crop yields sharply. The severity of a drought cannot be measured merely by its length in weeks, or its lack of rain. The degree of damage depends on several other things: On the amount of moisture which has percolated into the soil and held during the previous months or years; on the type of soil; on temperature, humidity and wind. The effects are quickly seen when plants are unable to absorb water thru their roots as fast as they lose it thru their leaves and stems. Some kinds wilt; some lose part of their leaves by withering; some, such as corn, roll their leaves to cut down water losses; still others like the pasture grasses become brown, dry and appear dead. Then livestock go hungry and must be fed other food or sold and shipped away. During prolonged droughts, the life-giving topsoil on cultivated fields blows in the wind and drifts like snow. Every few years clouds of red soil sift down on Chicago,—blown from those western states called the Dust Bowl.

Animal Life Suffers
 Our increasing demand for water and its diminishing supply is now a national problem. For years wells in many parts of Illinois have been going dry or yielding a dwindling supply, necessitating bigger and deeper wells or the construction of reservoirs for storing surface water. During recent drought years many farmers have been forced to haul water for their livestock and their homes. Some downstate cities and towns have had to ration water, lay temporary pipelines to distant sources or adopt other emergency measures.

Wild plants and wild animals also suffer during droughts. The topmost branches of our big oaks die because their deep tap-roots cannot draw enough water from the subsoil. Wild berries, fruits and nuts are scanty. The birds and mammals that eat them go hungry. Streams shrivel, ponds go dry and lakes drop muskrats, fish and other water life all have a tough time.

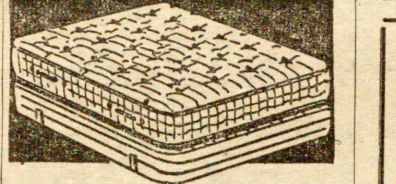

Planned Jobs Can Save Bones, Says Expert

Too much haste in home fix it and repair activities, not only results in waste of materials but results in a lot of unnecessary accidents as well. The Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company estimates that unnecessary hurrying and impatience is a contributing factor in at least 65 per cent of all disabling home injuries, and particularly those injuries which stem from carpentry, painting, cleaning, and similar jobs.

A big reason why people work feverishly at these repair activities is because they let the chores pile up, then try to do too much in too short a time. The Institute says that one of the best ways of keeping off the home casualty list (there are more than 5½ million yearly) is to plan home and household jobs well ahead.

Such pre-planning has these advantages:
 1. All needed tools and materials can be anticipated. The job is more likely to proceed without interruption when started.
 2. Special problems are anticipated in advance. Time is saved.
 3. Better correlation of jobs which should be done simultaneously.
 4. Weather changes need not result in wasted time—work outside in fair weather—inside when wet.
 5. Planning ahead means more freedom to concentrate on

Coast Guard Seeks Recruits

United States Coast Guard officials in the Chicago area have announced a growing need for men in the coast guard reserve. Young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ may enlist in a program which calls for six months active duty training. The remainder of the service obligation of men in this program is fulfilled by attendance at reserve meetings one night a week plus two weeks active duty training annually for a total of eight years.

A second reserve program offers men in the 17 to 18½ age group the opportunity of serving two years on active duty. In addition to their active duty training, men in this category will spend three years in the active reserve, attending meetings and taking two weeks active training annually. The sixth year of their obligated service may be spent in the inactive reserve. Total obligated service in this program is six years as compared to eight years in the six month program.

Veterans interested in the reserve programs of the coast guard can be enlisted. In many cases, the ratings previously held may be retained. Maximum age for veterans enlisting in the coast guard reserve is 42 years. Enlistments are also open in the regular coast guard. The regular coast guard enlistment is for four years and, at present, there is no waiting list. Men 17 to 26 with no previous military service can be enlisted immediately and may apply for assignment to a service trade

Congressman Hits at Arbitrary Conduct of U.S. Supreme Court

The penal code of the state of Michigan makes it a misdemeanor to sell any book, magazine, pamphlet, or publication tending to incite minors to violent or depraved or immoral acts. In a February 1957 decision the United States supreme court ruled that the Michigan legislature had no constitutional right to make such a law, and, therefore, the law was null and void.

Does a legislature representing the parents and children of a given state have the right to solve the juvenile delinquency problem in its own way? Does it have the right to bar fiction that includes obscene dialogues or situations? Does a state have the right to use its police powers to protect its young citizens from moral and spiritual harm as well as to protect them from physical harm?

The Michigan "dirty book law" was intended to bar books too salacious to be of any benefit to society, and especially harmful to youngsters. It was a legal trap to catch rats. The people of Michigan wanted to protect their children against evil influences. The supreme court now says they have no constitutional right to do so.

We believe each state has the constitutional right to look after the general welfare of its own people in its own way, and that the supreme court has gone outside of its jurisdiction in this case, as it has in many of its recent decisions.

Pertinent Present-Day Questions.

1. Is the constitution what the Supreme Court says it is?
2. Can the Supreme Court do that which is unconstitutional?
3. Has the Supreme Court the right to change the constitution by interpretation?
4. Has the Supreme Court the right to rule by edict where it considers the congress in error in failing to legislate?
5. Have we exchanged the "divine right of kings" for "divine right of the Supreme Court?"
6. Have we substituted for the government of checks and balances instituted by the Founding Fathers a supreme omnipotent and infallible Supreme Court as the final arbiter of our destinies?

These are profound questions. What are your answers to them? Ike Needs a "Byrd's Eye" View. What Ike needs is a "Byrd's eye" view of the federal fiscal problem as a whole. When he claims the budget cannot be cut, he is only echoing what the global spenders that surround him say.

Senator Byrd in a recent issue of the "Farm Journal" reminded the American taxpayers that the $275 billion Federal debt equals the full assessed value of all the land, mines, machinery, factories, livestock—everything of tangible value in the United States, everything mortgaged to its full value, "lock stock and barrel."

We have reached the limit beyond which even this country cannot go. Our taxpayers have also reached the limit of their patience. Senator Byrd says the budget can and should be cut by at least $5½ billion. Your congressman agrees with Senator Byrd. The "Battle of the Budget" is on in Washington. The economy minded members of both the House and the Senate need support and encouragement from home.

Senator Russell Says:

"To centralization of government power in Washington; the present encroachment upon states' rights by supreme court decisions; and today's extremely high federal taxes are far more serious and more dangerous to our form of government than any communist threat we may have to face."

The writer agrees with Senator Russell.

With Mrs. Owen Maue conducting the installation, the following new officers accepted their posts: Janet Knieriem, president; Helen White, vice president; Virginia Donovan, second vice president; Roberta Walker, secretary and Georgia Bernard, treasurer.

The Maue school picnic will be held at Messengers woods, June 2 at 12:30 pm. Children are to be accompanied by their parents. Each family is asked to bring table service. Ice cream and pop will be served. Games are planned for the children with a father-son baseball game as the top event.

Plans are under discussion for the graduating class.

A delightful film was viewed entitled "We Did it Ourselves". It portrays the growth of our country. Mrs. Lois Strassenberg, past president, was presented her two year pin by the new president, Mrs. Knieriem.

Cub Scout Den 5 of Pack 218 met at the home of Mrs. John Cruise with Mrs. Roy Walker assisting.

Inspection was conducted by Mrs. Walker reporting that the following boys had passed: Tommy Thurbe, Steven Koverkis and James Walker.

The Cubs are still working on a pin and earring set as a gift for their mothers.

Cub Scout songs concluded the meeting.

Navy Offers Commissions to College Women

Each year the U. S. Navy offers approximately 100 appointments to outstanding and highly qualified women college graduates or college seniors. These women are commissioned as ENSIGN, U. S. Naval Reserve and are required to serve on active duty only two years from date of commissioning.

The Navy Recruiter says that women are eligible if they are graduates of an accredited college or university, are between the ages of 21 and 27, are physically fit and of high moral character.

Those selected for appointment train for 16 weeks at the U. S. Naval Station, Newport, Rhode Island before assuming their important duties at one of the Naval activities located in the United States.

A commission in the Navy offers these women an opportunity to develop executive abilities, initiative and judgment, to utilize mental capabilities, to earn the same high pay and promotions as their male counterparts and to travel.

Interest persons may contact the U. S. Navy Recruiting station in the post office building

The awakening of Emily Wade

Emily Wade was a girl who had always dreamed of buying a new car.

Emily watched her pennies so when she saw a "medium-priced" car advertised for "only a few dollars more" than Ford she went to see it.

"My heavens," she gasped when she saw the car, "it doesn't even have automatic transmission; that's one thing I particularly need. And I do want a radio and heater."

So Emily's dream evaporated. Then Emily stopped in to see her Ford Dealer, an amiable fellow, who showed her how to buy a luxurious

Fairlane 500 with all the extras she wanted

The luxurious
Ford Fairlane 500
There is nothing like it in the low-price field

—and at a lower price than the stripped-down model of the "medium-priced" make. "This is a car a girl like me really wants," said Emily. And she bought it right then and there. Now you know what Emily knows... for a luxury car, plus extras, at a sensible price, logic directs you to Ford.

Read Matthew 19:16-22.
Thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right and when ye turn to the left. (Isaiah 30:21)
This would happen to me!" I hear a young man mutter. He had locked up his car and left the keys inside. "Do you have another key?" I asked.
"Yes, but at home," he replied.
"May I take you home to get it?" I asked.
"Well, surely, but you're a stranger."

The trip was spent in discussing generalities. While I waited for him to get his key, the voice said to me: "Witness about the Lord to him." As he reentered the car, he asked: "Why did you do this for me, a stranger?" My answer was: "Because I am a Christian. Are you a Christian?" I asked.

The answer came about three years later. A man asked: "Do you remember me—the man who needed a key? I just stopped to tell you that I can answer your question now. I am a Christian, my wife is a Christian. Our whole family goes to church and Sunday School."

PRAYER
Father, may we be so sensitive to the leading of the Spirit that we may hear His promptings. Help us to be good stewards of opportunities to witness to Thee as well as to give of our time and funds. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The family's living on 80th avenue would like to know that they appreciate the thoughtfulness of most of their neighbors in driving slowly past their homes. The dust from the roads is really a problem on that street.

Try to remember how we'd feel if we lived on 80th and saw our friends whiz by in their cars as we choked on the dust. Summer is coming and there seems to be only one solution, drive as though you lived there.

Kennie Eckel, Charles Harris and Janine Nelson have all been ill with the kind of infected sore throat, stiff neck and swollen glands. Norman Hegyi has been home from school for a week.
